$250 Freezer Will Be Given Away This Evening At Times' Cooking School; Other Gifts

A $249.95 International Harvester freezer will be given away this evening at the final session of The Gettysburg Times Upper End Cooking School at the South Mountain Fairground Memorial auditorium. The major prize was purchased by the Times from Wolff's Farm Supply, Biglerville.

Other awards to be made this evening will be a radio clock, 2 electric clocks, a gallon of paint, a beef roast from Baker's Market and 25 baskets of groceries worth $15 each. Doors will open at 6:30 o'clock. Miss Madeline D. Linehan, home economist, will prepare a group of tempting dishes to please year-round appetites of the American family. She will give a prize to the person who re-names her recipe for baked halibut, Swedish style, at the close of the cooking school this evening.

A large crowd was present at the opening of the Upper End series Thursday evening at which Miss Linehan gave numerous hints on how to enjoy the warm summer months by frequent outdoor cooking. She compared 18th century methods of cooking with 20th century trends.

Cites Old Methods
"In the 18th century," she said, "our great-grandmothers made a fire in their Dutch ovens no matter how warm the weather. They had to bake the bread when the oven was at a certain temperature. Other types of stoves required kindling wood. The housewife sometimes had to wait until the ashes were cooling off before she baked certain foods. Now, all the lady has to do is turn a dial or press a button. She can go to church or to a tea party and set her stove clock by which the oven will go off when the roast is finished."

Miss Linehan's menu last night included the baked halibut, "a wonderful dish for company night," she said. The instructor used one package of frozen halibut steaks which she seasoned with salt and pepper and brushed liberally with melted butter. After the fish was placed in a greased baking dish she covered it with drained, sweetened tomatoes and thinly sliced onions. After 20 minutes of baking in a 375 degree oven, one third of a cup of light cream was poured over the halibut and it was returned to the oven for ten more minutes of baking.

Glamorize Dish
"This dish can be glamorized by garnishing it with sprigs of green parsley or red spiced apples," said Miss Linehan. "We really must eat more fish, you know, as it is full of proteins and doctors consider it excellent brain food." Her honey nut coffee cake proved a favorite of the audience. "It makes a delicious snack served with steaming hot coffee," said the home economist.

Miss Linehan scalded a cup of milk. She measured 1/2 cup of warm water in a mixing bowl and sprinkled over it two packages of active dry yeast. To this she added the lukewarm milk mixture and two well-beaten eggs. She blended two cups of flour in this mixture until it was "spongy." Then she added two more cups of flour. It was beaten until smooth and placed in greased layer cake pans.

She topped the batter with crushed pecans, syrup and melted butter. Miss Linehan said, "Let coffee cakes rise in pans until double in bulk (in a warm place) about 30 to 35 minutes. Bake at 400 degrees, about 20 minutes."

Braised Short Ribs
During the evening she braised short ribs of beef in an electric table skillet. "Beef can be flavored with thyme or oregano," said the speaker, "to give it that special seasoning we often wonder about when we eat it in restaurants. Sprinkle a little salt in the skillet before frying for keeping juice and tenderness in the meat."

For bridge party snacks or late evening get-togethers, Miss Linehan prepared mushroom rolls, slices of well-buttered bread filled with condensed mushroom soup. She rolled the bread like a jelly roll and baked it in the oven until golden brown. "This is excellent served with a salad and hot drink," she said.

For strawberry party squares Miss Linehan melted one pound of marshmallows and one half cup of butter. She poured the mixture over five cups of puffed rice. This was pressed into a buttered pan and allowed to cool. She covered the squares with frozen strawberries.

Donates Flowers
Musselman's Greenhouse, Orrtanna, donated three baskets of flowers for stage decoration. The bouquets consisted of apricot gladioli.

URGES VETS TO CURB JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

State Policeman David K. James, of the local sub-station, urged neighborhood and community action to "discourage delinquency before it reaches the police." In a talk Thursday night to the St. Joseph's Post, Catholic War Veterans.

Pfc. James spoke at the eighth annual dinner held by the Bonneauville CVV at the Eagles lodge here for members and their wives. Describing work with juveniles James said:

"Where the parents are tolerant and kind and good Christians and Catholics there seldom is a juvenile problem. I'm not talking about the minor cases, but the ones that are really serious. The real serious problems generally develop in families where the father has lost the respect of his children, especially the boys. And that is where each individual, each neighborhood and community can do something to prevent juvenile delinquency."

Help The Family
"If you see such a situation developing, in your Christian compassion try to help the family. The state police do the best they can, but they (Continued On Page 3)

The historical society had long sought in vain for a picture of U.S. Senator James Cooper who served his state a century ago in the upper house of Congress but it was not until Miss Larmer launched an energetic search for a Cooper picture to accompany a term paper she was composing on Senator Cooper that the old photo came to light.

The Annie M. Warner Hospital building fund drive for $250,000 will be continued, the state is expected to approve the plans for the new addition and there is every indication that the goal will be attained.

These announcements were made today by Richard W. Livingston, New Oxford, president of the hospital board of directors.

"Complete coverage of the area served by the hospital has not been possible in ten days hence it is necessary that we continue the drive," Livingston said.

"The extended time will give our solicitors an opportunity to thoroughly cover their area which, we all feel, will result in an attainment of our $250,000 goal.

"In such an elaborate undertaking as this there is always considerable clerical work involved and this has prevented our presenting a complete day-to-day report. Only one area, Guernsey, has been entirely canvassed. Considerable progress has been made in a few others, but in most sections much more solicitation remains to be done.

Plan To Build Soon

"In view of the optimistic indications, we have proceeded with our plans to build soon. We anticipate approval of our construction plans by the state in the early future and as soon as the money is made available we will start building. We hope to get underway this summer," Livingston said.

Walter B. Dillon, hospital administrator, today reported additional donations of $13,869.50 bringing the grand total to $68,719.76.

"This is the largest single day's contribution since the drive started," Dillon said. "Each day there has been a steady increase which indicates that the general public is in sympathy with our emergency and our crowded condition and will support our construction project."

"When the final returns are in, when the entire area the hospital serves, has been canvassed, I feel confident we will have attained our objective," he added.

TRUCK GOES ON A "WILD RIDE"

A 23-year-old Harrisburg truck driver, who told State Police that he fell asleep, ran off the left side of the Harrisburg Road, two miles north of Gettysburg at 9:10 o'clock this morning ran into a utility pole, a huge billboard and two pieces of farm equipment. He was not injured.

Stanton E. Foy, 1261 South 13th St., Harrisburg, told State Police that he fell asleep driving south. He ran off the left side of the road and struck a utility pole. His vehicle continued another 150 feet and knocked down half of a huge Hotel Gettysburg billboard and still kept going. Two pieces of farm equipment, a culvert and a tractor-trailer combination harrow, were in the path of the vehicle and into these it plowed. Then the truck was stopped.

The truck was damaged to the extent of approximately $300. No estimate was made of the damage to the farm equipment.

The truck loaded with miscellaneous freight, is owned by the Bodwell Co., Inc., Harrisburg.

FRUIT GROWERS LAY PLANS FOR '56 BLOSSOMS

Adams County Fruit Growers will present apples from their orchards to visitors during next year's Apple Blossom tour, according to action taken at a meeting of the growers Thursday evening at Biglerville.

President Fremont Kuntz reported on the success of the "first annual" blossom tour held last month and told of plans of the committee in charge for next year's program. The committee was voted the thanks of the growers. Members agreed to put aside "a bushel or two" of top quality apples this fall for wrapping and special storage to be given away to the visitors at next year's tour.

Reports of Penn State Extension specialists indicated that while there are, as usual, some problems in relation to diseases and insects in the orchards, the situation generally is "in pretty good shape."

Reports On Diseases
Dr. Robert Kirby, extension disease specialist, said that in some orchards that were not properly sprayed leaf curl "is bad." But nothing can be done about it for this year. It is too late now. But the situation must be taken care of during the dormant sprays next winter. Peaches look good. Most growers who used phylon in their spray schedule got excellent control of brown rot. There is a little blossom blight and some leaf spot in sour cherries but the dry weather has kept it from spreading. On apples there was some scab infection during the rain and cold weather earlier, but dry weather since has prevented its spread. There is some powdery mildew to be found, especially in Jonathan and Rome, and it may be necessary to use Karathane.

See Slides On Marketing
John Pepper, extension insect specialist, told the group leaf roller eggs have hatched and some are present in some orchards but that the recommended spray schedule is taking care of the situation. Mites are showing up in many orchards and a miticide will be added to the next spray called. He and Kirby both warned against "letting down now if you are in pretty good shape. It is far too early."

Herbert McFeely, extension marketing specialist, showed slides on marketing research conducted by Penn State during the last year. Among results found was that the customers like to have an opportunity of purchasing different size packs. An experiment showed that packaging in different size bags ranging from two to six pounds far outlasted offering of apples in five-pound bags only.

"ENDEARING TO ME"

Whenever I see people smile . . . my heart is filled with cheer . . . for smiling faces bring about . . . a happy atmosphere . . . when people sing I'm also glad . . . and feel a tender thrill . . . because when folks break out in song . . . it stimulates good will . . . I also welcome laughter's ring . . . as it does so much good . . . yes, laughter opens up the door . . . to love and brotherhood . . . when eyes I look into are full . . . of friendship's glowing light . . . my eyes respond with hope and trust . . . for I know all is right . . . and so I go about each day . . . just trying to impart . . . to other folks the things that are . . . endearing to my heart.

Split With Governor

In her paper Miss Larmer traces the background to Cooper's election to the U.S. Senate after an earlier unsuccessful campaign for the Whig nomination for the governorship. Cooper also served as attorney general of the state before he went to the Senate and had been a member of the Legislature for several terms.

His election to the Senate came in 1849. Senators then were elected by the state Legislatures. Cooper was nominated by a split Whig caucus but in the Joint Session of the Legislature when the election of a U.S. Senator was up for action seven Whigs voted for Thaddeus Stevens. On a later ballot some of the Stevens supporters shifted to Cooper and he was elected 66 to 62 for Richard Broad-head, the Democratic nominee.

While the contest for election as U.S. Senator was underway, Cooper had solicited the influence of Governor William F. Johnson to procure for Cooper the support of the members of the Native American party. Johnson remained neutral and that infuriated Cooper and he let no opportunity to oppose Johnson go by. Johnson and President Zachary Taylor were close politically and Cooper had little political influence.

Born Near Frederick

When Millard Fillmore became President, Cooper lined up with him on slavery legislation. Governor Johnson was defeated for re-election in 1851 but Cooper had so estranged himself from Johnson and other Whig leaders that he decided not to seek re-election.

Cooper was born on a farm near Frederick, Md., in a family of meager financial circumstances. He attended St. Mary's College for a year, then transferred to Washington College, now Washington and Jefferson, from which he graduated after he took a course in business at a school in Philadelphia. He entered the law office of Thaddeus Stevens at Gettysburg to read law and on April 28, 1834, he was admitted to the Adams County Courts while John Reed was president judge. In 1838 and 1840 he was elected to Congress in a district composed of Adams and Franklin counties on the Democratic Anti-Mason ticket. He defeated Daniel Sheffer, a former associate judge of this county.

Buried In Frederick

In 1844 he defeated Robert McCurdy for the Legislature and J. Wierman in 1846 for the same office. In 1847 his law partner, William McSherry, defeated James Patterson for the Legislature.

After his term in the U.S. Senate, Cooper left Adams County and established residence in Pottsville, Pa. Then he moved to Frederick and opened a law office there. Early in the Civil War he sought from Governor Curtin an assignment to active duty as a brigadier general, a rank to which he had been appointed by Lincoln. Curtin refused but later Cooper was given active duty at Fort Chase, Ohio, where he died in 1863. He is buried in Mt. Olive Cemetery, Frederick, where also are the remains of Francis Scott Key, also a one-time member of the Adams County Bar and author of the national anthem.

Today's Talk

SPIRIT AND FEELING

Being a lover of books as I am, I have often wished I might, unknown to either, look upon a writer or an artist and see just how he or she works, wondering if I could sense the spirit and feeling of such a cue who wrote or drew.

Many times I used to visit the studio of Jay ("Ding") Darling, the famous newspaper cartoonist. It was always an interesting experience, for Darling would smile, open his mouth, and use facial expressions as he drew, minding no one who might be near, as I was, but buried deep in the thing at hand.

Robert Henri was a very great painter and teacher. One of his students took down much that he said in the classroom. Here is one sentence: "Pretend you are dancing or singing a picture." Here is another: "A worker or painter should enjoy his work, or else the observer will not enjoy it." And another: "All real works of art look as though they were done in joy." Nothing lasts long that doesn't hold the spirit and feeling of the one who created it.

Friends of mine spent the evening with me recently and we consumed most of the time looking at the books in my library and exchanging one another's spirit and feeling as friendly volumes were fondled and our love expressed for special books and writers. I like people who show a natural spirit and whose feelings are easily aroused when happy, significant topics are introduced into a conversation. I think it fine that people get excited over the love for fine things, and then make themselves contagious! I still keep thinking about that delightful evening with the Charles Honeses.

It's great to be housed in a big room, filled with books, and to have friends call and share your joy with them. Thousands of the silent great look down upon you when you have a room of books. Therein is the true democracy, for none on these shelves claims greatness beyond another. Each book feels comfortable next to its neighbor which it touches, regardless of all circumstances!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Attitude Of Mind." Protected, 1955, George Matthew Adams Service

I like baseball, I like hockey, I like football in its season. I like knowing horse and jockey, and for that there is a reason. Time, I'm told, I spend too much with.

All the news of sports reviewing, But I want to keep in touch with Everything that youth is doing.

On the sideline now my place is, And the truth is hard to swallow. Though I cannot run the bases, Those who can I like to follow. Does it matter what my age is? Should I sit here fuming, stewing, Or of sports go through the pages Just to learn what youth is doing?

Bucky Harris, Charley Dresen, Life would duller be without them. Should I let my interest lessen And in time forget about them. With athletics every stage is Set with constant goal pursuing. I read sports and all its pages Just to know what youth is doing. Copyright, 1955, by Edgar A. Guest

LITTLE MERIT FOUND BY U.S. IN BUFFER ZONE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials find little practical merit so far in proposals for the creation of a European buffer zone of neutral nations between Russia and the Western Powers.

Like President Eisenhower, they are not willing to write off the whole idea at this point. They believe it to be a project in which the Soviet government is interested, probably for devious purposes. But there are now so many unanswered questions that they see little future for it.

The dominant view of informed purpose in diplomatic maneuvering of the last several months, including its agreement to the neutralization of Austria last weekend, is to create in Western Europe a condition of weakness—a power vacuum.

Need Lots Of Proof
According to this theory, a situation would develop which would eventually give opportunity for the Reds to gain control of the vast industrial and manpower resources of Western Germany.

That belief is so deeply rooted in the U. S. government that if the Soviets actually have any less aggressive objective in view, it will take long negotiations and extended evidence of their intentions to persuade American officials to change their view.

Eisenhower, at his news conference Wednesday, avoided criticism of the idea of creating a belt of neutral states across Europe. But he noted that in the case of Austria the capacity for self-defense has been preserved. He indicated that the only neutrality he would be interested in would be an armed neutrality.

Would Hold Balance
This has a direct bearing, authorities said today, on the German problem. For the neutrality which the Soviets proposed for Germany in laying out a world disarmament program 10 days ago was a disarmed neutrality. American and other occupation forces would be withdrawn and Germany would be permitted only the internal forces necessary for law and order—in other words, police. That kind of neutralized Germany, authorities said, is totally opposed by the United States. A Germany armed sufficiently to protect itself against sudden attack but not allied with either of the two great power groups would be potentially capable of wielding the balance of power in Europe. It is doubtful whether any government, West or East, would want to create that kind of situation deliberately.

Williamsport dropped its third straight to last-place Wilkes-Barre, the host Barons exploding for six runs in the sixth to win, 12-7. Elmira dropped visiting Albany, 7-3. The Allentown at Reading game was cancelled due to bad weather.

FORESEE BREAK AHEAD FOR U.S. COFFEE FIENDS

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Coffee drinkers may be in for another break.

The coffee-producing nations to the south have been waging a cold war among themselves. Oversupply, stiff competition and unstable prices threaten today to break into an open price war — in spite of denials from the feuding nations.

The price of coffee for future delivery dropped early this week on the New York market as traders received word that attempts of the producing nations too set up a price - controlling agency were running into snags.

Brazil Drops Price
Another attempt will be made here next week. Spokesmen for the coffee traders say that 16 producing countries will be represented. Aim: To launch an international coffee agency with power to stabilize prices.

But Brazil, with a large supply of unsold beans on hand, has just dropped its minimum coffee export price. The Brazilian government says this doesn't mean the start of a price war. But traders here note that El Salvador and Mexico are reported to have taken similar action.

The immediate dispute among the Latin-American nations is over what to do about some 10 million bags of coffee which will be left over from the old crop when the new crop year starts July 1.

'53 First In Background
The Brazilian government has bought 3,100,000 bags (409 million pounds) to hold off the market. The quarrel is said to be over how much more it should buy, and how much other producing countries should hold off the market until prices stabilize.

However, the trouble actually goes back to July 1953 when Brazil had a damaging frost. Prospects of a short coffee crop sent green bean prices spiraling to 95 cents a pound in the New York market. Other producers began to cut in on the market Brazil had built up over the years. At the same time, Americans cut down on coffee drinking.

Declining demand and price cutting among competing producers toppled prices here — the green bean brings about 54 cents a pound here now — and caused considerable economic and political unrest in Latin America.

JIM HEARN IS FIRST TO WIN 6 IN NATIONAL

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

So guess who's the first National League pitcher to win six games this season. Roberts, Antonelli, Spahn, Erskine, Newcombe? Nope, it's a guy named Jim Hearn, the right-hander nobody wanted.

He picked up No. 6 yesterday at Milwaukee as the New York Giants beat the Braves 3-2 in the only major league game scheduled. That edged the Giants into second place, three percentage points ahead of Chicago's Cubs.

It was the fourth complete game for Hearn, who has lost two. Only Milwaukee's Gene Conley and Philadelphia's Robin Roberts have completed five.

Hero In '51

The Braves touched Hearn for 10 hits, but only two went for extra bases and he left eight stranded. After getting his 3-2 lead the 6-3, 200-pounder gave just four hits over the last five innings. In all, he fanned six and kept his errant control in check to walk only one.

It was wildness that contributed to Hearn's 1954 disappointment. He was put on the shelf as a starter with the world champs after Sept. 1 by Manager Leo Durocher. At season's end, he was on the block. But nobody stepped up to get Hearn, one of the hero's in the Giants' little miracle of 1951. He won 17 that year, including the first game in the pennant playoff with Brooklyn.

Hearn had just one really shaky moment yesterday. Danny O'Connell made his fourth straight hit a leadoff double in the ninth. But Hearn let him get only as far as third while ending it. Hank Aaron got the other long hit off Hearn, a solo homer in the second.

Willie Mays' single scored the first Giant run in the fourth and his sacrifice fly brought home the winning run in the fifth after Don Mueller's double had tied it and chased loser Ernie Johnson.

The Giants head home from the West 7 1/2 games behind Brooklyn. New York is at Pittsburgh tonight to play the Pirates. Brooklyn is at home again trying to snap a three-game losing streak against the Phils. St. Louis is at Cincinnati and Chicago at Milwaukee.

GHS, Biglerville And East Berlin Will Send 18 To District 3 Meet

Gettysburg, Biglerville and East Berlin High Schools have entered 18 athletes in the 31st annual District 3 PIAA track and field meet which will be held in the Lancaster High School stadium, Saturday. Preliminary events will start in the morning at 10 o'clock with the finals scheduled for 2 p.m.

Coach George Forney originally entered a squad of 11 but Glenn Weishaar's recent illness may eliminate him as a competitor. Ronnie Williams has withdrawn due to slight injuries received in a fall.

Plans have been instigated for a benefit baseball game, proceeds from which will be turned over to the Warner Hospital Building Fund.

A meeting of all managers of the South Penn and Pen-Mar Baseball Leagues will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the American Legion Home, Baltimore St., to discuss the proposal.

It has been proposed that all-star teams, representing the leagues, take part.

ANGELO NAMED OUTSTANDING MSM ATHLETE

Salvatore Angelo, Elizabeth, N. J., was awarded the Faculty Trophy, presented to the most outstanding student athlete at the Mount St. Mary's College at the activities dinner on Tuesday.

In addition, he has served as vice president of the Dante Club and the Metropolitan Club. He is also a member of the Monogram Club and the Business Club, and active in intramural sports.

Angelo, a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth, will receive the B.S. degree in Social Science at the 14th annual commencement exercises on June 1. He is also listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Lafayette Game G-Burg Homecoming

Lafayette College will furnish the opposition for Gettysburg's 1955 Homecoming football game, it was announced this week by Henry T. Bream, director of athletics. The game is set for October 29.

In selecting Lafayette as its 1955 Homecoming opponent, Gettysburg is choosing a traditional thorn in its side. Out of 14 contests played since the series began in 1894, Gettysburg has won only twice, while the Leopards have taken 12 victories.

In fact, the Leopards were unable to score on Lafayette until the seventh game of the series, played in 1936, and when they did score it was to nip Lafayette, 2-0. Gettysburg lost again in 1937, 1939, 1940, and 1941, being shut out twice, and finally won again in 1946 by 27-14 count. Lafayette took last year's battle played at Easton by a 20-6 score.

The Leopards will face a jinx in next season's game, as Gettysburg has not lost a Homecoming contest in the past five years. In fact, the Leopards have not lost a home game since October 11, 1952.

Natale And Lantz To Rejoin Bullets

John Yovicsin, head football coach at Gettysburg College, is counting on a pair of service-returns to help his 1955 team through a rugged eight-game schedule. Both army veterans, halfback Tony Natale, Harrisburg, Pa., and guard Ron Lantz, Lemoyne, Pa., are expected to return to college either this summer or in the fall.

Before entering the Armored Corps two years ago, Natale, a five-foot-ten, 160-pound speedster, was one of Gettysburg's top ground gainers and scorers. He was especially brilliant in his final appearance before entering the service, when the Leopards whipped Franklin and Marshall, 20-6.

The return of Lantz is welcome news to Yovicsin, because Gettysburg loses its two starting guards through graduation in June. And Carl Beck and Bill Weitzel were not only the two starting guards, but they finished their careers as two of the finest guards in Gettysburg's history. Beck was named to the Associated Press All-State first team last season and Weitzel received honorable mention. Lantz is 5-11 and weighs in at 190 pounds.

Joe Lang's South Penn League champions, the Shippensburg Greyhounds, completed their season unbeaten by defeating the Gettysburg High Warriors 7-4 here Thursday afternoon. It was the ninth straight this season for Gettysburg and marked the fifth loss against as many wins for Shippensburg who completed its season with the game.

The Warriors gave Bill Weaver, Greyhound hurling ace, trouble and held a 4-3 lead as late as the start of the sixth frame. Coach Howard Shoemaker's outfit collected six hits, but also had 10 go down via the strikeout route.

Each team tallied a run in the first inning. A walk to Linn, two stole bases and a single by Weaver gave Shippensburg its run. The Warriors retaliated when Gilbert was safe on an error, Cloyd Spence singled and a wild pitch from Weaver.

GHS Takes Lead

In the bottom of the third Gettysburg took the lead with three runs. A walk to Gilbert, singles by Spence, Kane and Keller plus two Greyhound miscues produced the tallies.

Singles by Weaver, Sowers and Long, and a sacrifice fly by Seilhamer gave Shippensburg two runs in the sixth and a 5-4 advantage.

Two insurance runs were added by the visitors in the seventh which came as a result of a double by Myers, triple by Weaver and an out.

Methodists Vote Today On Admitting Red China To UN

YORK, Pa. (P)—The Central Pennsylvania Methodist Conference prepared to vote today on a recommendation of its World Peace Committee that Communist China be admitted to the United Nations.

The Peace Committee also recommended that the conference's 87th annual session go on record as favoring settlement of the Formosa situation through the U.N. and urged opposition to further atomic bomb tests.

An attempt to solve the Formosa situation through the U.N., the committee said in its report yesterday, could possibly result in the recognition of two separate political units—China and Formosa.

The conference contains 239 charges in the Williamsport, Altoona, Sunbury and Harrisburg areas of central Pennsylvania and represents over 120,000 persons.

By admitting Red China to U.N. membership, the committee said, "the United Nations would be made a more universal organization."

Refused Admission

In the past, the U.N. has beaten down Communist attempts to seat the Red government, now in control of the Chinese mainland.

In referring to Nationalist Formosa and Chiang Kai-shek, the committee's report said:

"The United States should not continue to be in the position of supporting a deposed Chinese leader on traditionally Chinese soil but should seek a solution to the Formosa problem through the United Nations perhaps eventuating in the recognition of the existence of two separate independent political units—China and Formosa."

On atomic energy, the committee report recommended that "in the interest of easing international tension" and to preserve health standards, the conference should go on record as opposing further atomic bomb tests.

To Be Elders

In other conference developments yesterday, an examining board accepted into full membership a class of seven ministers who will receive elder's orders Sunday, when the conference closes.

They are: the Rev. John G. Catron Jr., Greystone, N.J.; the Rev. John W. Stamm, Orbisonia, the Rev. Edwin H. Roghbeck, Patton; the Rev. Fred W. Yaple, Picture Rocks; the Rev. Reginald Alford, Warrensville; the Rev. J. W. Nottingham, Marysville, and the Rev. Paul Schroeder, Wrightsville.

The 300 delegates also chose six representatives for the church's General Conference next year.

They are the Rev. Charles F. Berkheimer, Sunbury; the Rev. F. Lamont Henning, Harrisburg; the Rev. H. W. Glasco, Altoona; Mrs. W. L. Crowding, Williamsport; Charles V. Adams, Montoursville, and Richard W. Campbell, Altoona. The ministers are all district superintendents of the conference.

Name Representatives

Named representatives to the church's Jurisdictional Conference next year were:

The Rev. John D. House, Westminster, Md., Theological Seminary; the Rev. D. Frederick Weitz, Williamsport District superintendent; the Rev. G. Cecil Weinert, Harrisburg; the Rev. Robert R. Coyle, Clearfield; the Rev. Frank W. Ake, Lewisburg; Robert F. Rich, Woodrich; Paul C. Webb, Bloomsburg; Mrs. J. Howard Ake, Berwick; Edgar R. Baker, Benton; and Robert E. Knapp, Harrisburg.

The conference also elected these trustees for terms expiring in 1958: the Rev. Cloyd W. Fields; the Rev. W. Lynn Crowding, Williamsport; Webb, and Charles F. Williams, Williamsport.

Elected directors of the Conference Home for the Aged for three year terms were: Edward R. Cox, Tyrone; Joseph C. McKelhan, Altoona; the Rev. Allen C. Shue, York, and the Rev. Harry F. Babcock.

Victor B. Hann, superintendent of the Methodist Home for Children at Mechanicsburg, told the conference that the first unit of a proposed infirmary-staff administration building will be started this year at an estimated cost of $125,000.

The conference also agreed that it should have no circuits with more than four churches. Presently, 51 per cent of the circuits—a number of churches served by one minister—range from two to eight churches.

REJECT TV PETITIONS

WASHINGTON (P)—Petitions for television channel changes at York and Harrisburg, Pa., have been rejected by the Communications Commission.

The rejected petitions were filed by Patriot News Co. operating WTPA on Channel 71 at Harrisburg and by the Helm Coal Co. operating WNOV-TV on Channel 49 at York.

The Patriot News Co.'s request was to lower the channel to 21, and the Helm Coal Co. asked to move to either Channel 15 or 21.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

PROMISES MORE STATE HELP FOR MAIMED YOUTHS

HARRISBURG (P)—Gov. George M. Leader promised today that his administration would "see that more is done" toward rehabilitating crippled children.

"The commonwealth has been trying to do its part in a program of rehabilitation of crippled children but this administration intends to see that more is done and in a better way," the governor said.

In a talk prepared for delivery at the 32nd annual convention of the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Leader said:

"Currently I am proposing legislation for a statewide training program for both the mentally and physically handicapped."

Mandatory Program

"The training program will be mandatory in all school districts." The training program is primarily on a voluntary basis, Leader pointed out, and "does not completely meet the needs of Pennsylvania's handicapped children."

Miss Rebecca Gross, editor of the Look Haven Express, was among panelists presenting personal experiences in rehabilitation. Miss Gross was the victim of an automobile accident which resulted in the amputation of her legs.

She and four other panelists related their own experiences in returning to independent living and overcoming physical disabilities.

Referring to the mentally retarded children of the state, the governor set June 20 as the date for opening a classification center at Laurelton State Village, Union County, for diagnosis of conditions of such youngsters.

Two similar classification centers, he explained, should also be in operation within a very short time.

Laurelton State Village is an institution for mentally defective females which recently was the point of attention during a legislative hearing to determine conditions there.

The governor turned his attention to the gifted children of Pennsylvania, describing them as "one of the neglected groups in the education program."

"These children, with abilities far surpassing those of many older children, represent 3 per cent of the school population," he said, adding:

"They need a broader and deeper and faster-moving educational program. These children need additional facilities established by the school districts."

He said the "excess instructional cost" should be borne by the commonwealth.

"State aid should be an incentive to school districts to make educational provisions for this neglected group of children," he asserted.

The convention was also scheduled to elect its statewide officer today. The meeting closes tomorrow.

PROBE SECOND PHONE CHARGE

SCRANTON, Pa. (P)—Fire officials of nearby Spring Township are investigating a report that an unidentified woman refused to surrender an eight-party telephone line to permit the reporting of a small fire.

Fire Chief Carl Hagen said the woman's refusal contributed to the destruction of a truck owned by Stephen Yuhas of Duryea.

Yuhas, Hagen said, was visiting some friends when the truck caught fire yesterday. He tried to persuade the woman to leave the telephone temporarily but she refused, saying she was making a long distance call to Washington, according to Hagen.

Hagen said he had asked the Bell Telephone Co. to determine where the call originated. "We are determined to press this case as far as we can," said Hagen.

Two days ago a Poughkeepsie, N.Y., housewife was found guilty of willfully violating a New York state law by declining to surrender her party line telephone to permit the reporting of a fire.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL DIES

READING, Pa. (P)—The principal of the Reading High School for the past 11 years died last night of a heart attack.

Earl A. Master, 49, was stricken at his home and died en route to the Reading Hospital, according to Dr. Thomas H. Ford, superintendent of the Reading school district.

Master is survived by his widow and two sons.

One Killed, One Injured In Crash

READING, Pa. (P)—Clayton P. Wentzel, 47, of Reading, was killed and a passenger in his car was seriously injured early today when the vehicle failed to negotiate a curve and hit a tree on Van Reed Road about four miles west of Reading.

State police, who identified Wentzel as the driver, said Mrs. Dora C. Bowers, 51, of Reading, suffered head wounds, a fractured leg and other injuries when thrown from the car. She was admitted to Reading Hospital.

Wentzel was dead when rescuers freed him from the wreckage.

The shortest player in the American League is Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees. He is 5 feet 6 inches tall.

TWO PUBLISHERS IN STATE WILL RECEIVE AWARDS

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (P)—Two Pennsylvania newspaper publishers today were selected for distinguished service awards by the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors and the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Assn.

Joseph L. Boyle, co-publisher of the Jim Thorpe Times-News, and John H. Biddle, publisher of the Huntingdon Daily News, will receive their awards at special ceremonies tonight during the 1955 Pennsylvania Press Conference.

The conference opened today for some 250 editors, publishers and staff members of Pennsylvania newspapers. In addition to the PNPA and PSNA, the session is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Women's Press Assn. and the Journalism department of Penn State University.

Boyle, cited for community development, is the originator of the "Nickel-a-Week" industrial development fund which brought this community nationwide recognition.

This plan, in turn, led to the merger of Mauch Chunk and East Mauch Chunk into Jim Thorpe, in honor of one of the world's greatest athletes. The community is to become the center of the national Jim Thorpe Memorial Foundation.

Biddle, a past president of the PNPA and associated with five other newspapers and five radio stations, will receive his citation for an "unending fight" against tuberculosis.

A leader in the fight against TB on the state, national and international level, Biddle was named a councilor delegate to the 1953 and 1954 meetings of the International Union against Tuberculosis.

At business sessions today, Jerome H. Walker, executive editor of Editor and Publisher, cautioned newspapers against being too secretive.

"Too Much Secrecy"
"The newspaper business fails to attract the confidence of the public in the freedom-of-information war against those self-appointed guardians of public knowledge in Washington and city hall because it openly practices too much secrecy itself," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at the session.

Newspaper readers, he asserted, have the right to something more than the right-to-know slogan gives them. "Why not endow the public with the right to know what we know?"

Walker said the public's right-to-know is being compromised even more tonight during the 1955 Pennsylvania Press Conference.

SENATE ARGUES HIGHWAY BILL

WASHINGTON (P)—The Senate opens debate today on a Democratic bill to double present federal aid spending for road building.

Republicans planned to try to substitute President Eisenhower's plan for it.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said there would probably be no votes until the middle of next week. Both sides expect the issue to be settled by late next week, however.

The Democratic measure, written by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), would greatly increase spending on all of the four federal-aid highway systems—interstate, primary, secondary and urban. For these it would authorize a federal-state outlay of $17,941,000,000 over the next five years. It would double the present rate of spending in the first year, and triple it by the fourth and fifth years.

The Eisenhower proposal would allot 38 billions of federal and state funds for the four systems over 10 years, but would concentrate 26 billions of this on the 40,000-mile interstate system designed to link up all parts of the nation.

Senators Bush (R-Conn.), Martin

Express; Joe Shuman, city editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; Eugene Simon, publisher of the Valley Daily News, Tarentum; Robert Bates, co-publisher of the Meadville Tribune; Mrs. Fay G. Cowan, Beaver Falls, News-Tribune and president of the PWPA; and Richard A. Thornburgh, executive editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

A workshop for daily newspapers will also be held Saturday. Other features include discussions of newspaper problems, farm news and statistics.

ASKS BOOST IN MINIMUM WAGES FOR MILLIONS

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (P)—Millions of workers are involved in the wrestling match between the Eisenhower administration and some Senate Democrats over the meaning of words.

The words involve a boost in the minimum wage and its extension to workers not now covered. In spite of the talk and the words, there's a good chance there will be no increase.

About 24 million workers in businesses which deal across state lines—such as factories producing goods shipped in interstate commerce—are covered by the federal minimum wage law. It requires that they be paid at least 75 cents an hour.

Another 20 million people working for wages and salaries are not covered. This group includes farm workers, such people as small grocery store clerks, employees of banks, and people employed by theater, grocery, hotel and movie theater chains, and employed in 5- and 10-cent store chains.

He Asks For Boost

In his Jan. 6 State of the Union message President Eisenhower said of the minimum wage: "I recommend its increase to 90 cents an hour. I also recommend that many others, at present excluded, be given protection of the minimum wage."

Congress set the present minimum of 75 cents an hour in 1950. Since then living costs have gone up about 15 per cent.

The big labor organizations want the minimum set at $1.25. The administration sticks to 90 cents. A boost from 75 to 90 cents would mean an automatic raise for about one million manufacturing employees in the South, and 300,000 others.

Just how many of those 20 million uncovered workers did Eisenhower want brought under the protection of the law with a 90-cent minimum wage?

He had left it "many others" in his message. But on April 14 Secretary of Labor Mitchell went before the Senate Labor Committee to explain the administration's views. The committee is considering a bill to boost the minimum.

Benefit For Millions

Mitchell said he knew of no "sound reason" why the minimum wage should not be extended to employees of interstate chain stores, interstate hotels and motion picture chains, and some other workers. They'd total about two million.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) a committee member, said he took this to mean the administration was recommending those who million employees be brought under the law. Then the wrestling began.

Douglas says the administration is "weaseling." Mitchell says now the administration wants minimum wage coverage "extended to millions more Americans."

How many millions exactly? That's up to Congress to decide, Mitchell says. He says he hopes the issue of extended coverage will not be "obscured by quibbling about words."

6-YEAR-OLD GIRL KILLED

MT. POCONO, Pa. (P)—Six-year-old Linda Oney, of East Stroudsburg R. 2 died of a fractured skull and neck last night when the coal truck in which she was riding with her grandfather missed a curve on Rt. 196, two miles east of here.

State police reported the grandfather, Nelson Whitmore, 47, of the same address, suffered cuts and bruises. He was taken to the Monroe County General Hospital at East Stroudsburg.

NATURAL COLOR

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (P)—Judy Johnson, 8, has a flock of rare Araucana chickens. They lay eggs in pastel shades of blue, pink and green. Each hen produces a single color eggs.

Judy's father, C. E. Johnson, farm editor of the Grand Rapids Press says the chemistry of the hen, not the feed, determines the color of the eggs.

HEZEKIAH ATTEMPTS RECONCILIATION

2 Chronicles 30:1, 6-13
Key Verse: The Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if you return to him. 2 Chronicles 30:9.

One of the best kings of Judah inherited one of the worst situations — a completely disorganized realm and a burden of tribute to Assyria. Hezekiah was only 25 years old when he came to the throne, faced with many problems brought about by his wicked father, Ahaz. Ahaz ruled only 16 years, but during his reign he had revived both Baal and Moloch worship, set up many images, and closed the Temple. His armies had been routed and slaughtered by both Syrians and Israel while the Edomites and Philistines took territory on the East and Southwest. From the beginning Hezekiah showed character, good judgment, and personal righteousness. He immediately began a positive and constructive reform. It is amazing that he succeeded as well as he did against such odds. The first thing he did was to open the Temple for worship, and we judge that his deep spirituality was inherited from his godly mother, a daughter of Zechariah. The next thing was to reestablish the regular festivals by calling the people to observe the Passover. He would make it an occasion to be remembered!

The most outstanding thing in Hezekiah's whole program was his attempt at international reconciliation on a spiritual basis. Instead of showing a spirit of malice and revenge toward Israel, he forgot his kingdom's grievances and set about to establish better relations. The celebration of the Passover feast gave him an opportunity to invite his rivals back to the Temple where they could unite in worship to God. His message is a model of forgiveness and hope for spiritual and national unity. Hezekiah's sincerity can never be questioned. In his appeal he "stiff-necked as your fathers were" but that they would "yield" themselves and come to God's sanctuary. And the account follows, "For if you return to the Lord, your brethren and your children will find compassion with their captors and return to this land." Maybe the two kingdoms could reunite into one nation, restoring a unity lost for two hundred years!

The message of King Hezekiah was carried to all parts of Israel and to all the tribes. The offer of reconciliation was carried by the king's personal couriers and was well publicized. As one lesson commentator states, "It was not a message from the throne of Judah to the throne of Israel. To the grass roots of the people the proclamation went in an ancient form of 'fireside chat'."

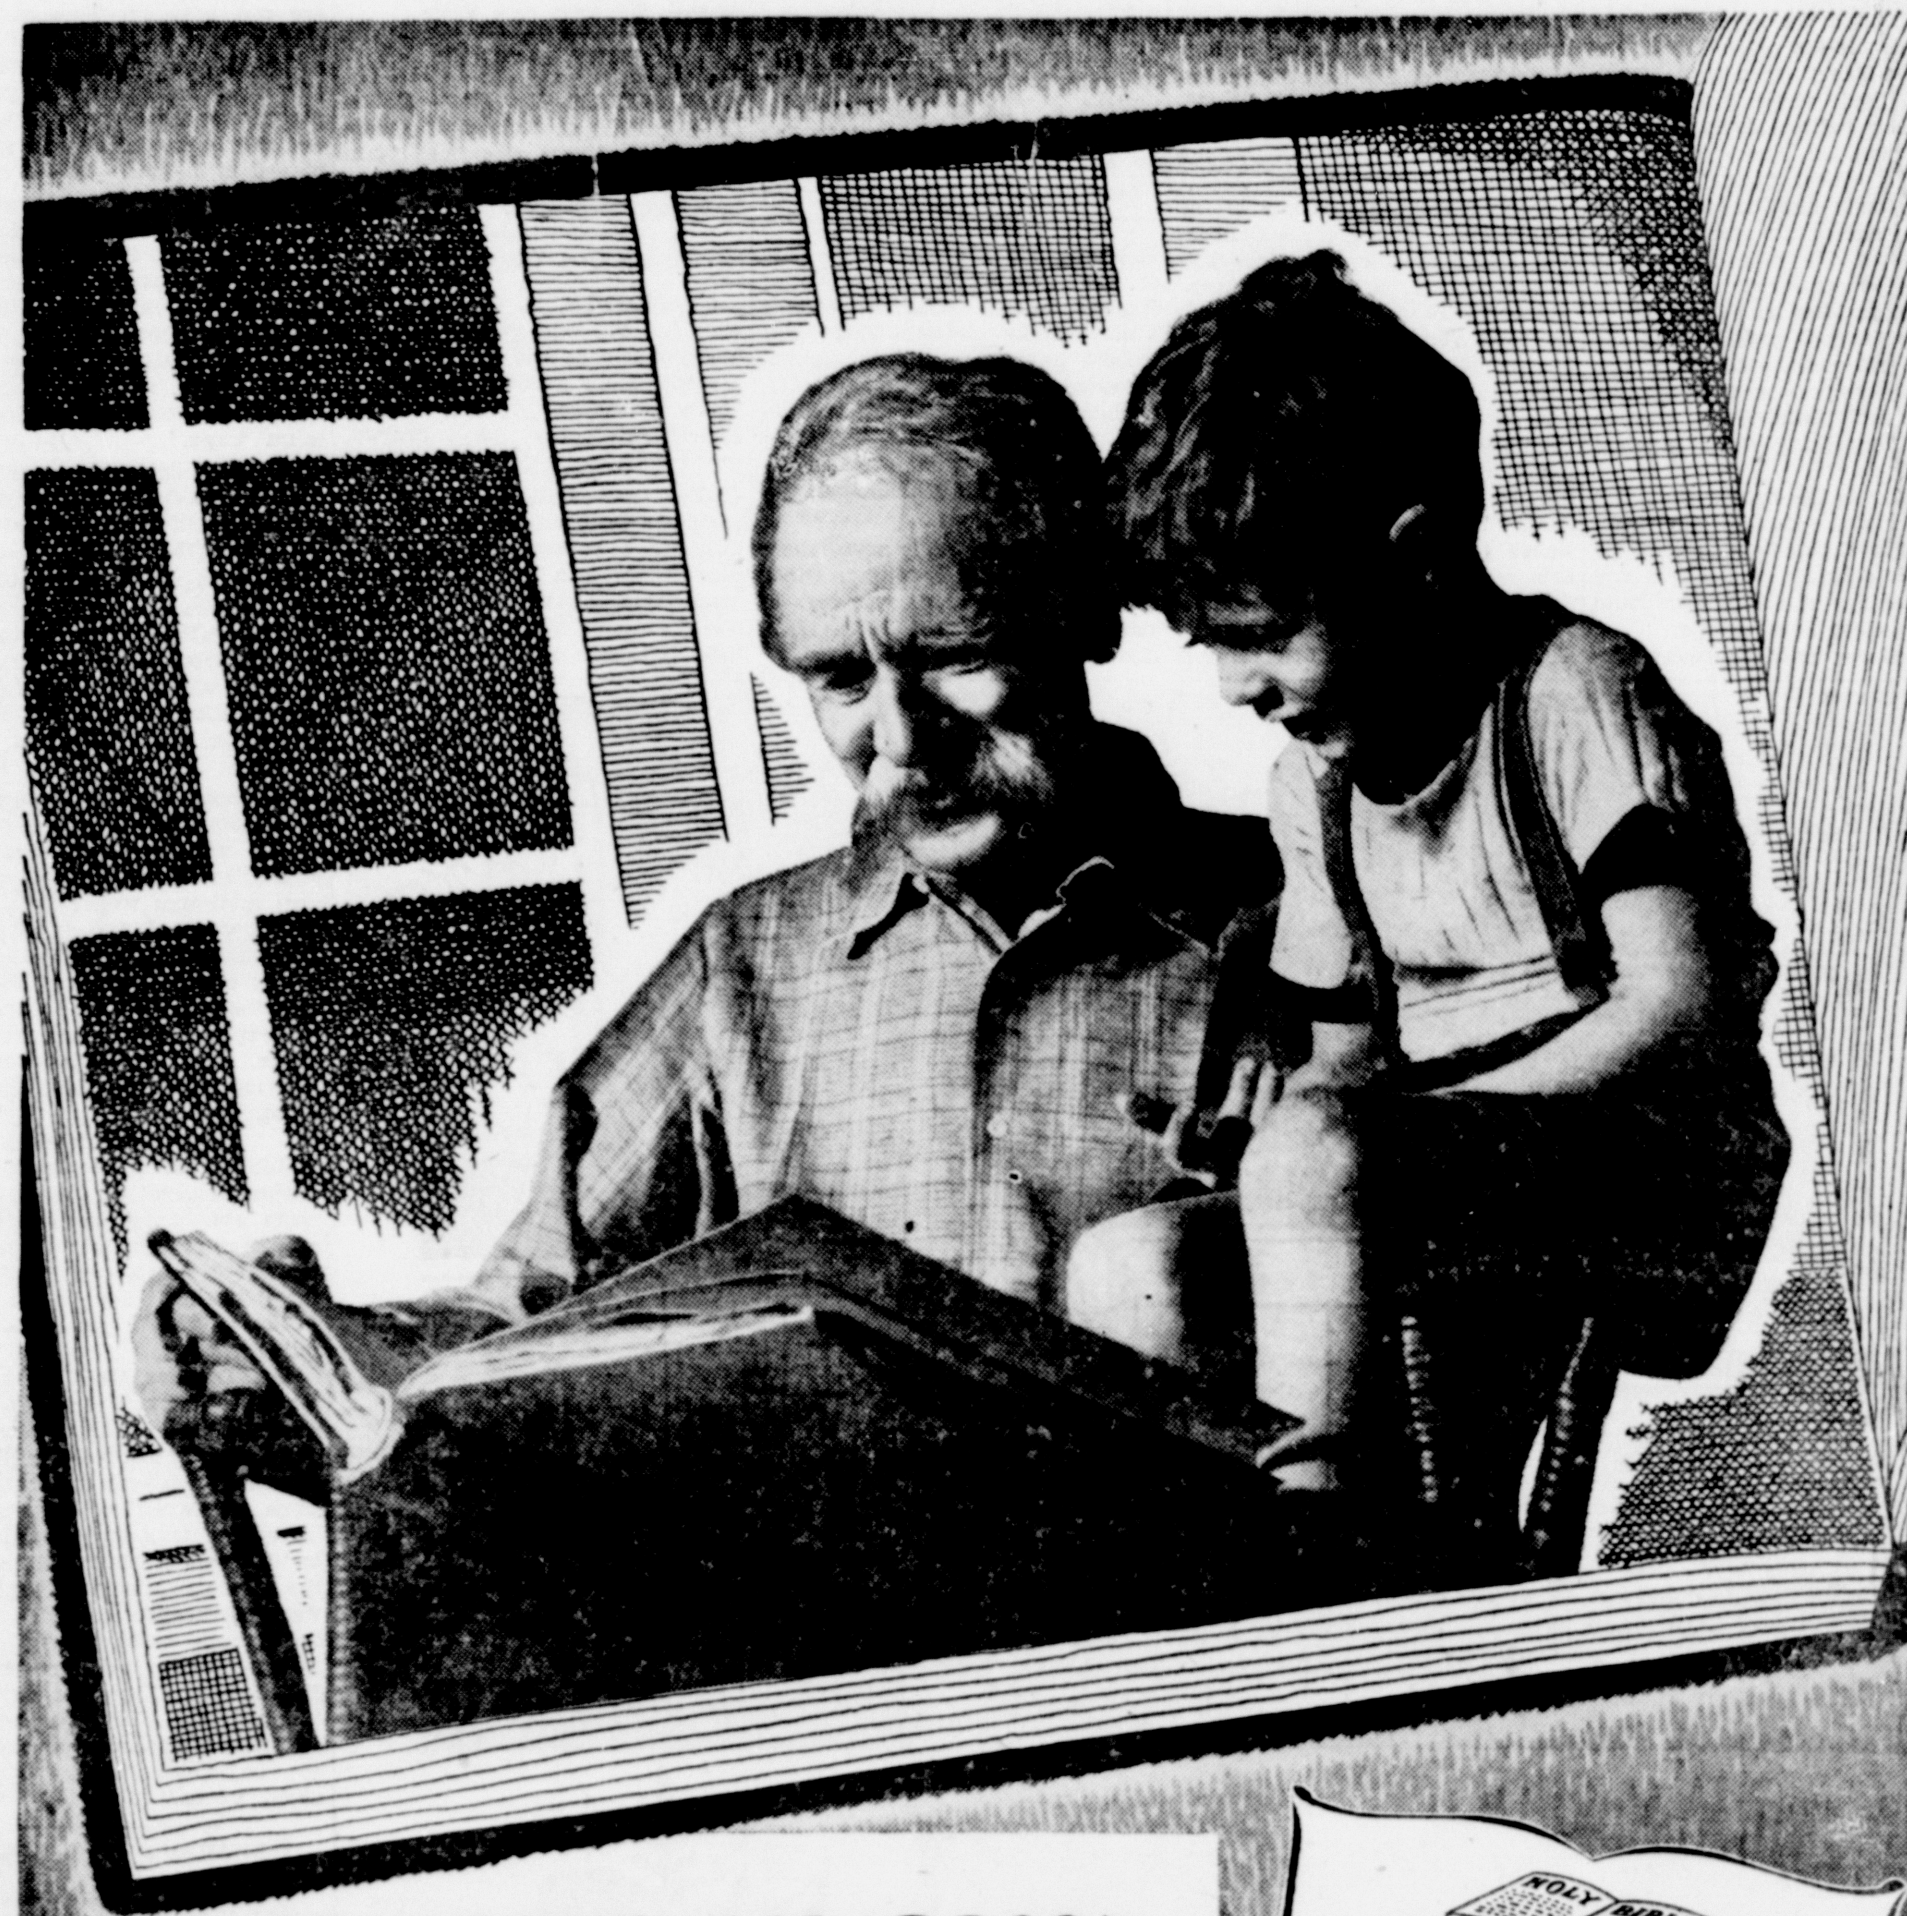

How was the invitation received and what was the response? Isn't any attempt at "reconciliation between nations bound to be difficult? Some who received the invitation suspected Hezekiah of political motives; others scoffed at or ridiculed his messengers. Consequently, the response was very disappointing. However, those who did accept the invitation and came to partake in the religious festival were doubly blessed. No doubt the people of Judah regretted that the people of Israel did not accept, but their own joy in the success of the Passover was overwhelming. The return to the true faith restored the confidence and morale of Judah. Hezekiah's efforts at reconciliation may appear to have failed, but it established a pattern for international relations on a high spiritual plane. Other national leaders have met with a similar response. When President Wilson spoke at the Versailles Peace Conference following World War I concerning international reconciliation in a spiritual vein, one of the European statesmen scoffed at him. Today Christian statesmen also attempt reconciliation in the United Nations, but are ignored or their proposals repudiated by the Communists. Let the Hezekiahs of today not be discouraged! Spiritual values do have a place at peace parleys, "God is in His holy temple, let all the earth keep silence before Him."

GRANDPA'S SCRAPBOOK

It's all there—in Grandpa's Scrapbook. The story of his life. His baptismal certificate, the newspaper clipping about his kicking that winning field goal, the now-yellowed wedding invitation, the snapshot of their house-warming, the announcement of Mama's birth, the blue ribbon that Grandpa's steer won at the county fair.

And, on a page all by itself, is a Children's Day program from our little Church, the day I sang "Jesus Loves Me" with Danny Andrews!

Grandpa always says, "That's the page I like best. It's a blessing to know yer grandson is goin' in the right direction."

And then with a far-away look in his eyes he says, "You keep up yer fine work in Sunday School, Lad. Whether yer kickin' a field goal, or plantin' yer corn, or servin' God in yer own humble way—you have to keep goin' in the right direction!"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SLASH IN PRICE OF MILK IS LEFT TO COMMISSION

By JOHN KOENIG JR.
HARRISBURG (P)—Gov. George M. Leader left it up to the state Milk Control Commission today to cut the price of milk purchased in stores or delivered in quantity or force new laws to bring that about.

The governor made public at his weekly news conference yesterday a letter he has sent to the Republican-controlled commission.

Specifically, the letter demanded price cuts in quantities of four quarts or more and a 1½-cent a quart reduction in store-purchased milk throughout the commonwealth.

"I have the hope the Milk Control Commission will see the light and go along with the recommendations," Leader told newsmen in his first concrete proposal for milk price reform promised in last fall's election campaign.

Commission Chairman Joab K.

Mahood could not be reached immediately for comment, but Commissioner Charles J. O'Loughlin said in an interview the three-member group could make changes in minimum milk prices only when extensive hearings have shown that this could be done economically.

shown that this could be done economically.

O'Loughlin insisted that every commission action must be backed up with competent testimony. If not, he said, dealers, dairymen or consumers could appeal the commission's decision in the courts.

"If we can develop testimony that shows prices should be lowered, we will act to lower them," he said.

The governor, however, declared that if the commission doesn't move on his recommendations, he will.

The governor said he has "no reason to expect the commission will abide by or heed" his letter.

"But it does call to their attention some of the powers they have and which can be used for the benefit of consumers—and producer as well," said Leader.

The governor announced that he will wait the decision of the commission and proceed with legislation if it is not favorable to his proposals.

Turning to taxes, Leader said he has "no specific plans" for whipping into line recalcitrant Democratic House members who already have voiced opposition to the proposed classified income tax program.

"But I will use every honorable

LEADER FAVORS NEW EXTENSION OF TURNPIKE

HARRISBURG (P)—Two legislative proposals to extend the Pennsylvania Turnpike into new areas had the full support of Gov. George M. Leader today.

The governor said he "most certainly" would sign bills, when enacted, to authorize an east-west extension from Sharon to Stroudsburg and another linking the present toll road in western Pennsylvania with the West Virginia border.

Leader praised both proposed extensions as "splendid projects" and said they will be a "tremendous help to industrial development."

Measures authorizing the Turnpike Commission to build the extensions, which prove financially feasible, already have passed the Senate and are in position for final passage in the House next week.

Both could reach the governor's desk for signing at that time. However, a move is afoot among House Republicans to amend the legislation.

Should this idea win approval means at hand by speaking to those people and others," he said.

The governor said also he is proceeding with plans to resort to television appeals—both filmed and live—to acquaint the voters with what he believes is the necessity for the tax program.

the Senate would have to agree—a process which would slow up enactment.

Leader discussed the Sharon-Stroudsburg proposal at length yesterday at his weekly press conference.

He said this route would be "very important to the development of north-central Pennsylvania, the anthracite region, Williamsport, Lock Haven and part of the bituminous coal region."

Leader said he is confident the route, to be known as the Keystone Shortway Extension, can compete successfully with the New York State Thruway and the present Pennsylvania Turnpike running across southern Pennsylvania.

"I am informed that only about three per cent of the present turnpike revenue will be diverted to the Sharon-Stroudsburg road," he said.

"With the growth we are getting in traffic this can easily be made up."

Moreover, the governor added, "we might be very happy" to see some traffic diverted from the

He said this would avert the necessity in the future of building additional traffic lanes on the present Ohio-to-New Jersey turnpike as well as widening tunnels which carry the turnpike through the Allegheny Mountains of western Pennsylvania.

STATE TO LOSE U.S. JUDGE AT CLOSE OF MONTH

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania loses a federal judgeship the end of this month.

It will come about through the resignation of Chief Judge Albert L. Watson of the state's Middle District.

Under present law, Judge Frederick V. Follmer of Lewisburg, a roving judge, will automatically fill the vacancy caused by Watson's retirement. Follmer's vacancy will not be filled.

The net result will be a loss of one judicial seat in the state.

Under present law, eight district judgeships are authorized for the state's Eastern District; two in the Middle District, six in the Western District, and one roving (Follmer). The law includes a provision that the roving judge will become a judge of the Middle District when the first vacancy occurs there. Thus Follmer automatically steps in when Watson leaves, and the roving judgeship disappears.

Four Vacancies
There have been four district judgeship vacancies in the state for years—two in the east and two in the west.

Although there have been rumors for months that these long-standing vacancies would be filled, there still is no definite indication when President Eisenhower will submit his nominations to the Senate.

Persons close to Sens. Martin and Duff, Pennsylvania Republicans, say the holdup—in recent months at least—has been in the Justice Department, which hasn't cared for all of the senators' recommendations.

The latest list of most likely nominees that the Justice Department might find acceptable is:

U. S. Atty. John W. McVaine and former state House Speaker Herbert Sorg for the west, and Francis L. Van Dusen, a Philadelphia lawyer residing in Montgomery County, and William C. Kraft, former district attorney of Delaware County, for the east.

Rep. Walter (D—Pa.) has introduced a bill to create a new judgeship in the Middle District—raising number there from two to three. However, it is considered unlikely that Congress will create any new seats in Pennsylvania until the present vacancies are filled.

Purchase Ground For Home For Aged

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—The King's Daughters and Sons of Pennsylvania, Inc., has announced the purchase of ground for a home for the aged to be built in Pottsville.

The announcement was made yesterday at an executive committee meeting during which proposed plans for the M. Irene Boyer Memorial Home for the aged were discussed. Present plans call for the housing of 16 persons.

The group held an opening banquet at its 56th annual convention yesterday. The Rev. Dr. Byron K. Horne, president of Linden Hall Junior College, was the principal speaker declaring that the only way to beat communism is to outlive it. "Living for democracy is the only answer communism fears," he said.

CORBETT NEARLY BEAT JEFFRIES IN 1900 SCRAP

By SYD KRONISH
AP Sports Writer

There was excitement and tension in the air as the boxers stepped into the ring at Coney Island, N. Y. on May 11, 1900. This was a heavyweight championship bout scheduled for 25 rounds.

The champion—big, burly Jim Jeffries weighed 225 pounds and was in his prime. He was 25 years old.

The challenger—165-pound James J. Corbett, the man who beat John L. Sullivan for the title in 1892 and lost it to Bob Fitzsimmons in 1897. Corbett was 35 but determined to regain the crown.

The irony of it was that Jeffries was Corbett's sparring partner when the slim boxing master was champion.

Jeered For Haircut
The fans had called Corbett "Gentleman Jim" in derision because he wore a pompadour haircut and was an ex-bank clerk. Some oldsters had never forgiven him for smashing their idol, the great Sullivan.

Most ring observers expected this fight would end in a quick knockout for the husky champ. In fact Jeffries made many wagers that he would stop the challenger inside of ten rounds.

But few folks knew that Corbett had been secretly training for a year and Jeffries was out of condition for the first time in his life.

Round after round Corbett punched Jeffries silly with his lightning fists. Big Jeff tried to nail Corbett with a left hook but the slippery Corbett made him miss each time.

At the end of 22 rounds Corbett was far ahead on points. In the 23rd round, however, one of Jeffries' left hooks caught Gentleman Jim on the chin and Corbett went down for the count.

Peeved At Fans
Reporters claimed that Corbett lost the fight because he was peeved at fans who made fun of him for his dancing tactics. For 22 rounds these tactics had worked to perfection. But Corbett wanted to prove to one and all that he could mix it and slug with his bigger adversary. He switched strategy in the next round and was KO'd.

After the fight Corbett wouldn't comment on his tactics but later in life he said: "I certainly got a thrill when I won the title from Sullivan. But the thing that would have given me the greatest kick of my career didn't quite come off. I got within a couple of rounds of it and all was rosy. But then the lights went out."

Jeffries always admired Corbett as a boxer and a gentleman.

True Gentlemen
Said Jeff "He always wanted to be known as 'Gentleman Jim' and he was a gentleman in every sense of the word.

"He never could figure out how I knocked him out the first time we met in 1900 at Coney Island. He always asked how I did it and I'd never tell him. I'd say it was one of my trade secrets."

"I had a lot of money bet that I would knock him out inside of 10 rounds and I went out to do it, but he was too smart."

"I've never seen a better boxer. He made me look foolish. I kept jabbing with my left and he kept slipping the punches."

"I got to timing that left and in the 23rd round I hooked the punch a little, putting all my weight behind the blow. It hit him flush on the chin."

"At San Francisco two years later I knocked him out in 10 rounds but Corbett was not in the condition he was for the first fight."

Both Jeffries and Corbett were great champions and their deeds in the ring are strongly entrenched in fight history.

Corbett died in 1933 at the age of 67. Jeffries in 1953 at 78.

COLOR ADDED AT GULFSTREAM

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Back in 1745, a race track edict provided that jockeys "be dressed in cap, silk jacket, pantaloons and half boots," marking the birth of jockey garb as it is known today.

An amazing metamorphosis has taken place in racing silks through the years, and more than 2,500 sets of colors are now registered with The Jockey Club.

Gulfstream Park has added still more color, in cloths carried under saddles worn by horses during the running of the races.

The track which pioneered such innovations as hand-stamping for clubhouse pass-out checks, escalator service, infield water skiing and moth sail boats, is using a new type saddle cloth.

Devote Position
Each cloth is of a different color, denoting post position, and plainly visible from the stands.

The plan does not interfere with the regular silks worn by jockeys. Post one is identified by a bright yellow or orange, post two by a brilliant green, post three by a bright red, and so on down to post 12, which will be white. In the event of a "field," will be of a similar color.

Even if the cloths turn over in the wind, or twist under the saddle, as so often happens, the color will remain visible, and identify the horse. Representatives of the Illinois State Racing commission, horsemen and jockeys have expressed enthusiastic approval of the innovation.

"Grunting" Worms Pays Off In Florida

SOPCHOPPY, Fla. (AP)—Grunting earthworms are a profitable business in many sections of Florida.

Over 100 men, women and children are engaged in grunting, or rubbing up, earthworms in Wakulla County alone; packing them in containers with the proper sand, muck and moss and shipping them to various parts of the South.

To get the worms out of the earth workers drive in short wooden stakes and then use an axe, spring leaf iron or any other suitable iron for rubbing the top of the stake. The vibration makes the worm—prized as fishing bait—come to the surface.

You can make more worms come out by using batteries connected to steel rods but more worms are killed that way.

GENTLEMEN
AND SCIENTISTS
PREFER BLONDES

BALTIMORE (AP) — Instrument makers, a meticulous lot at best, prefer blondes with hair at least 14 inches long.

Strictly deadpan, these precision-minded gents will also tell you they have no (scientific) interest in blonde tresses which have been defiled by chemicals or curling irons.

Anyone who has watched the traffic in and out of a beauty parlor would think these men of science have laid down requirements impossible of attainment.

But the Fries Instrument Division of Bendix Aviation Corp. reports it buys about 500,000 such hairs each year.

It seems human blond hair untouched by dye or curling iron works better than any other known substance as the controlling factor in a device to record humidity.

Absorbs Moisture

Such hair absorbs moisture consistently under given conditions and always dries out at the same rate. About eight strands are used to an instrument. The hair stretches as the humidity goes up and it absorbs moisture. As it dries out, it grows taut. The action moves levers which record the humidity.

Harry J. Grady, purchasing agent for the division, says he gets lots of

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
The Associated Press

The television screen brings world events and famous personalities within shooting range of our cameras in our own homes. Using the newest, fastest black-and-white films now available, almost any type of camera can produce a satisfactory image from present day TV screens.

The essential point is that all the light for the picture taking comes from the television screen itself. All other light is immaterial and may be harmful in creating reflections on the glass surface of the screen. It still is a surprise to many offers from women willing to sell a bit of their crowning glory.

One lady accompanied her offer with an admonition. "Don't tell my husband," Grady says the company doesn't.

A small girl tried to palm off some hair from her doll. And one woman offered the hair of a dog—literally.

Blondes Only

Grady says it isn't known exactly why shades other than blonde won't do. He guesses it may be the pigment.

For the department of statistics, it takes about 5,000 blonde hairs 14 inches long to make an ounce. Bendix uses up 100 ounces per year, according to Grady.

The market so far is monopolized by women. Men haven't been able to meet the 14-inch requirement.

If they should, "that would be the day," murmured Grady.

camera fans that you must never use a flash as it would only blank out the entire image on the screen.

Experts say that 1/30 of a second is the perfect speed at which to shoot a television screen image. This is why. The television picture, like motion pictures, is made up of many individual images. Each image is formed on every screen by 525 horizontal scanning lines activated by an electron beam. Each image is the result of two operations:

Ships Lines

1. The electron beam starts at the top and skips every other line till it reaches the bottom. This takes 1/60 of a second but only half the picture is there.

2. It starts up from the bottom and fills in the alternate lines. This takes another 1/60 of a second. When it is finished, the image is complete due to the persistence of vision and the total time is 1/30 of a second.

The normal snapshot setting for most cameras, 1/25 of a second, is the recommended shooting speed, since few cameras are calibrated for 1/30 second. However, many photographers have experimented and gotten satisfactory results at 1/50th and 1/100th of a second. The subject matter would have to be unusually bright, however. If the subject matter is dark or if a slower film were used, then longer exposures are necessary—1/5th, 1/10th or even 1/2 a second. In these cases, it would be even more necessary to select a point of inaction or a peak of action to avoid subject movement.

The availability of the newest, fast films is a great help in this type of shooting. With the speed at 1/25 you can set the lens at f5.6 or f6.3 for a normal exposure and regular development. Inexpensive cameras, whose lenses are slower, can still shoot at 1/25 but the fast films could then be developed up to 100% longer to get satisfactory pictures.

It is important that the camera is level with, and squarely facing, the TV screen to prevent undue distortion, which is likely to be present anyway. A tripod is a helpful accessory at this point, but a table or chair or other sturdy object at the right height can be used to keep the camera in position after focusing.

Reflex cameras, or those with a groundglass, are easiest to handle to get the sharp focus necessary and the largest image size possible. This introduces the problem of parallax in a reflex camera because the viewing lens is above the taking lens. Some small adjustment may be necessary.

Make Bigger Images

The No. 1 or 2 accessory portrait lenses are helpful in making bigger images for many cameras. When adjusted, distances have to be carefully measured with a ruler from lens to screen. Then the camera distance scale has to be set properly in accordance to directions which come with the accessory lens.

A groundglass for inexpensive cameras can be improvised by do-it-yourself fans. Use kitchen wax paper, rough-surface acetate or a developed piece of blank negative. Cut it to a size slightly larger than your film size. Open the back of your camera and tape the translucent film so it remains flat across the film plane. Set your camera on Time exposure and open the lens wide. You now have an improvised groundglass and can see exactly how close you can get to your TV screen and where to center the image. However, the camera must not be moved from its exact placement while you remove the groundglass substitute, put your film in place and adjust the speed and the lens for shooting.

The television picture has to be adjusted somewhat differently from normal viewing in order to make a better target for your camera. The brightness control should be brighter than normal while the contrast control should be softer or a little grayer than normal. This combination is aimed to get all the detail and pick up contrast to make a better looking photograph.

Legislative Jokers
Put Officer On Spot

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas State Senate was considering a bill to increase expense allowances for Lieut. Gov. James McCuish, who was presiding. The first vote count showed a 20-20 division.

Chortling lawmakers reminded McCuish he had the tie-breaking vote. Before the embarrassed lieutenant governor acted, however, senators abandoned their practical joke and changed their votes. The bill was passed unanimously.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

ARTISTS BAKE
NEW PAINT BASE

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — The flatiron and the kitchen oven are the newest items in the modern painter's equipment—or so visitors were told at an exhibition and demonstration at the Scheneman Galleries here.

There was no oven, but there was an iron, and artists from the Woodstock (N.Y.) colony put it to use to harden colors applied in a new medium.

They are vinyl-based pigments. They look pretty much like oils, and are applied exactly like oils, but the are hardened by being heated for a couple of minutes.

According to the experimenters, that makes it handy for weekend painters. They can take their canvases home, "iron" or "bake" them and have them ready to go to work on again at once—oil takes a long time to dry. Furthermore, vinyl stays moist indefinitely, whereas oils may dry and crack; you can spread some of it on your palette and keep it there for weeks and it's still good, whereas oil would have dried up and gone to waste.

Special Canvas

The 30 paintings in the new medium were done on specially treated canvas, masonite or water-color paper. The final work might be as hard as glass, or as pliable as rubber. This pliability makes it possible to use these paintings for pillow tops or chairbacks as well as to set in frames, for they can be rolled up and folded and otherwise maltreated with no apparent ill effects.

The medium was originated by the B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co. in cooperation with Albert Jacques, principal exhibitor; others in the show were Edward Chavez, Ethel Magafan, John McClellan, John Pike, Reginald Wilson and Earle B. Winslow.

The traditional color materials are used, and most of them mix as well with vinyl as with oil. The experimenters believe they will be as fast as when used in oil, too.

NEW PEDDICOATS ARE NEEDED FOR NEW FASHION SILHOUETTES

Associated Press Women's Editor
Petticoat fever is a reliable sign of spring.

The new silhouettes call for new petticoats, differently shaped than last year's styles. And in case you can't find a readymade petticoat in just the style or color you want, take a tip from experts at your local sewing center and make your own, in matching or contrasting taffeta and net, with can-can ruffles for a flirtatious touch.

You'll need about 2 1/8 yards of 40-inch rayon taffeta, plus 5 yards of 7-inch net flounce, 4 yards of 4-inch net flounce and 2 yards of 2-inch net flounce. This net flounce is available in various widths, already ruffled and bound. However, if you're interested in an unusual shade, it's easy to make it yourself, using the ruffler attachment on your sewing machine to ruffle and stitch in one operation. Mercerized thread is most satisfactory for taffeta.

To make a pattern, use a piece of paper about 40 inches square. Setting a compass on one corner of the paper, draw a quarter circle. For a 24-inch waist, draw your circle with a radius of 8 3/4 inches. Add a half-inch radius for each two inches of waist measurement. For example and 8 3/4-inch radius will fit a 26-inch waist, and so on.

Two Inches Shorter

For length, measure two inches less than your skirt length. If your normal skirt length is 30 inches, measure along the straight edges of the paper 28 inches from waistline marking. Measure 28 inches from the waistline at intervals, marking each, and connect the points at the bottom with an even curve. Cut out pattern.

Fold fabric crosswise. Pin pattern to fabric, matching straight edges to fold and selvages. Cut out. Your petticoat is in the form of a half circle, with one seam.

To make waistband, cut a strip five inches wide and two inches longer than your waist measurement, trim off your selvages, and seam together, leaving seam open eight inches from the top. Press seam open and edge stitch along both sides of the 8-inch opening. Clip seam 1/4 inch at the opening, turn under 1/4 inch along opening and top stitch. Turn up a narrow hem at the bottom of the petticoat, and finish with two lines of stitching.

Fold waistband strip in half lengthwise and stitch along top edge 7/8 inch down from the fold. Then fold again, so the folded edge stops 1/2 inch above the two raw edges. Stitch across both ends through all thicknesses, trim seams, turn to right side and press.

Pin To Side

Pin the double raw edge of waistband to the right side of skirt waist edge with raw edges up. Baste and stitch. Clip along the curved edge, turn waistband up and slip-stitch loose fold of waistband to line of machine stitching.

Now pin the ruffles to the underside of the skirt. The first ruffle is pinned six inches from the hem. Still using the seven-inch ruffing, pin the next row two inches above the last row. Using the 4 1/4-inch flounce, pin two rows two inches from last row and two inches apart. The 2 1/2-inch flounce is pinned 1 1/2 inches above the last row. Stitch together the ends of the ruffles, using two rows of stitching, and trim close to stitching line. Then stitch on the ruffles and press.

Because of the graduated rows of ruffles, you'll find your petticoat flares crisply, adding body to lightweight fabrics. A god wardrobe trick is to make several, in various colors to make a festive outfit of the simplest cotton dress.

CLAIMED HORSE PROVES GOOD MONEY EARNER

By FRANK ECK
AP Sports Editor

When Dover Doll won and paid $53.40 Trainer Harry Shillick took congratulations lightly. He recalls too vividly the day last summer when Dover Doll had won another race for him.

Within 24 hours Shillick had won a $2,275 purse and received another $4,000 when Dover Doll was lost through the claiming box. He took the money and claimed Blushka for $6,000 and wound up with a dead horse.

Blushka broke her leg running in the race in which Shillick had put in a claim. She had to be destroyed but under the rules of racing she belonged to Shillick. Shillick has been around horses 35 years. He began as an exercise boy, then rode close to 200 winners. When his weight advanced beyond 115 pounds he went back to exercising and used to work the great Equipole. Then he took to training.

Trains Claimers

He trains claimers. They are horses entered in races out of which they can be claimed by an active trainer.

It is one of the most hazardous phases of racing. Shillick, now 51, knows it only too well. But in Dover Doll he has "a good money earner."

"If someone claims her I'll claim her right back," says Shillick modestly. "She can't seem to win for anybody else."

Each time someone claims the 5-year-old mare Shillick eventually claims her back. He has claimed her three times and of the six races she has won, five have been in the colors of Mrs. Thelma Shillick, Harry's wife.

The sequence of events began in 1953 when Shillick claimed Dover Doll for $3,500 at Aqueduct. He lost her for $4,000 to Frank Kearns, a claimer, of course. Shillick later reclaimed her for $4,000.

Last summer Frank Daugherty claimed her for $4,000 out of a winning Jamaica race. The next day Shillick used his money for the dead horse. Later on R. Kramer claimed Dover Doll for $5,000. Last winter at Tropical Park in Florida, Shillick reclaimed Dover Doll for $5,000. The daughter of Rounders-Dimitra couldn't win for Kramer. But she got back in a racing mood for Shillick. In the first eight days at Jamaica this spring she won two races and $4,550.

"Right after I claimed her last winter I ran her at Gulfstream," says Shillick. "She ran sixth, but while she was on the train back to New York I received a $100 check in the mail. The winner, Deluge, was disqualified days later and Dover Doll was moved up to fifth, which meant she earned $100. She has earned money for me at every meeting I ever raced her."

"Dave Gorman broke her maiden but now she runs kindly only for Jockey James Cangemie."

Maybe Shillick knows how to handle her, what to feed her and when to exercise her.

"It's more than that," says Shillick. "I won't even tell my wife. As a result, Thelma says: 'I'm going steady with a horse.'"

Eddie Joe Buck, rookie trying for a berth with the Boston Red Sox this spring, has a degree in agricultural economics from Oklahoma A and M.

PERON DEPUTIES OK CHANGE IN LAW ON CHURCH

By FRED L. STROZIER

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's Peron-dominated Chamber of Deputies gave overwhelming approval last night to the President's demand to end Roman Catholicism as the state religion.

In the first formal step toward amending the constitution, the lower house voted 121-12 for the government-backed proposal. The anti-Peronist Radical block was the only opposition. The bill calls for election of a national convention to change the nation's basic law.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where Peronistas hold all 34 seats—and then to the President for signature.

Boisterous Windup
The deputies' session, climaxing two days of debate on the crucial issue, wound up with boisterous demonstrations both in the chamber and outside.

Deputies pounded on their desks and shouted "Peron! Peron!" Outside several hundred Catholic youths paraded toward the Capitol, chrousing "Argentina is Catholic" and "Long live Christ the king" until police dispersed them. Earlier in the evening thousands of Catholics packed the metropolitan cathedral and 70 other churches in Buenos Aires for evening masses. Officially they were observing the Feast of the Ascension.

CALLS ENDING OF AID "FATAL"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today it would be "fatal" for the United States to choke off its foreign aid programs in the face of an approaching Big Four conference and possible tension easing.

"Now is the very time for our government to show every disposition to go forward with our aid programs," George said in an interview. "We have to do those things, including spending large sums abroad. That we might very well hesitate to do in view of the developments."

The developments include the German rearmament treaties, the Austrian treaty and the outlook for a conference this summer among President Eisenhower and the British, French and Soviet premiers.

Must Continue Aid
George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said this nation "cannot afford" not to continue expensive foreign aid. That is more true, he said, of economic than military aid.

Avoiding any prediction, George indicated the foreign relations group is likely to approve the Eisenhower administration's $1.2-billion-dollar aid bill in "substantial" its present form.

UNOFFICIAL LOW BID
HARRISBURG (AP)—The Department of Property and Supplies has received an unofficial low bid for plastering and painting nurses' home at Locust Mountain State Hospital, Shenandoah, from Anthony Diamond, Bethlehem, $3,645.

HOT CRASH

CLINTON, S. C. (AP)—Truck driver Alfred Payne was in front of the fire station when his truck caught fire. The blaze was extinguished quickly. While he was inside the fire station telephoning home, the truck rolled down a grade, knocking down a mail box and a fire hydrant and crashing into an oak tree. The town was without water for six hours while the hydrant was repaired.

Methodists To Elect Meeting Delegates

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—The 104th annual Wyoming Conference of the Methodist Church was expected to elect today three ministerial and three lay delegates to a jurisdictional conference to be held next June in Ocean City, N.J.

Three delegates to the General Conference in Minneapolis next May were elected during yesterday's sessions. They are the Rev. Dr. Harold C. Buckingham, Wilkes-Barre superintendent; Dr. Norman Clemens, Wilkes-Barre; and Dr. Roy Henwood, Scranton.

At last night's session, Dr. Harry Denman of Chicago told the group too many preachers are "fooling" with civic service clubs and not enough are preaching the gospel.

"Where was Methodism born?" Denman asked. "Not at clubs. Too many preachers fool with Kiwanis and Lions clubs too much. People in your community have gone to hell while you've gone to service club meetings."

In its primary sense, the word "lord" refers to the head of a household.
